

CODE OF ETHICS

Jeunesses Musicales International is a worldwide, non-profit, non-governmental and non-partisan network with democratic grass-rooted membership structure and values.

JMI:

- works with and for all young people regardless of social, cultural or ethnic background, gender, language, race, and not for personal, political or financial gains;
- promotes access to music as a fundamental human right: all young people should have the possibility to be empowered by music, through education, learning, playing and listening;
- stands for international solidarity, cooperation, respect and understanding;
- is a quality hallmark: every project¹ aims towards utmost artistic standards;
- seeks high standards of professional organisational culture and personal conduct and responsibility;
- works with and accept funding consistent with its mission, employing highest standards of transparency and public accountability in its programs, campaigns, financial management and fundraising practices;
- seeks for partners that display corporate responsibility and leadership, that make positive contribution to society and have a record of socially-responsible behaviour, positive public and/or product and service image, a history of commitment to development-related causes, responsible labor and environmental practices.

This Ethical Code is applicable to Jeunesses Musicales International its structures, its regional networks and all full and associate member organisations.

¹ Refers to projects alone, not necessarily musicians, participants, volunteers, staff and partners, as it may conflict with the grass-root nature of the organisation
